*	All publications on board ships, regardless of format, should be the latest editions or duly corrected and up to date.
	Refer to Section 3.6 below.
	Nautical charts and nautical publications, such as sailing directions, lists of lights, notices to mariners, tide and current tables, and all other nautical publications necessary for the intended voyage, shall be adequate and up to date.

2.2. The Nauru Maritime Administration has recommended that the publications of SOLAS, MARPOL, LOADLINE, COLREG and STCW Conventions are carried on board, even though not expressly required by IMO instruments, as they deal with many operational aspects, navigational responsibilities, safety-related training/drills on board, safe cargo handling, oil spill prevention, collision avoidance activities and watchkeeping standards. However, no deficiency should be filed by PSC authorities against Nauru-flagged ships not carrying such publications on board. On the other hand, a non-conformity should be raised by the ISM auditors for ships not carrying such publications on board in accordance with the ship's Safety Management System (SMS).

3. ACCEPTANCE OF ELECTRONIC EQUIVALENT

- 3.1. The above listed publications may be in electronic format in lieu of hard copies.
- 3.2. Electronic publications should be those issued by the IMO or the Nauru Maritime Administration or a body authorized by the Nauru Maritime Administration to ensure correctness of their contents and to safeguard against illegal copying.
- 3.3. The media (CD-ROM, Flash drive etc.) containing the electronic publications should be treated in accordance with the document control procedures in the ships' SMS including procedures for timely update.
- 3.4. Electronic nautical publications distributed directly by a Hydrographic Office or through a service approved by a Hydrographic Office may be carried to fulfil the requirements for the carriage of nautical publications, including Notices to Mariners, in Chapter V of SOLAS.
- 3.5. Where electronic nautical publications with electronic backup are carried, portions of the publications needed for navigation while the vessel is en-route between ports (tides and current tables, light list, etc.) should be printed and included with the voyage plan unless the electronic backup is an independent computer system with its own emergency source of power.
- 3.6. Notwithstanding the above, publications for emergency use, such as the IAMSAR Manual should always be available in the form of hard copies.
